

ABSTRACT

A gaming machine for conducting a wagering game includes a sound system for presenting audio directly related to the game or indirectly related as background sound or music. The audio files contain markers that initiate other events and are instrumental in synchronizing the audio to the events.